PERIODICALS.

THE SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES
-A RICH BANQUET.

The 'Galaxy,' which always contains an attractive combination of light and solid contents, is more that usually good for September and is quite a remarkable number, in its choice of subjects. The great question of Marriage, Eating and Drinking, Duelling, Religion, and Language are all treated, and in a style so clear and even that, varied as they are in their nature, we might almost think the same pen

The following is the table of contents The following is the table of contents:

The Coming Marriage, by Albert Rhodes: The Wetheral Affair, Chapters XXXVII., XXXVIII., XXXIX., XL., and XLI., by J. W. DeForest; Casual Cogitations—will the Coming American Drink? by Carl Benson; The Anti-Slavery Men of the South, by Edward A. Pollard; The Mammoth Religion of the World, by Fannie Roper Feudge; A Broken Lilly, by M. E. W. S.; The Revolution of 1848 in Berlin. Personal Recollections. In two Parts. Part II. by lution of 1848 in Berlin. Personal Recollections. In two Parts. Part II, by Theodore S. Fay; Rhymes from Ronsard, by Kate Hillard; Symbolism and Language, by C. P. Cranck; Wanderings—the Austrian Provinces, by Lady Blanche Murphy; Summer Days at Newport, by Lucy H. Hooper; The Carliste, by Theodore P. Adams; A Feast of Blood, by Julian Hawthorn; The Æronant, by Elizabeth Sill; Driftwood, by Philip Quilibet; Current Literature, and Nebulie, by the editor. m, by the editor.

'Scribner's' for September has a fair proportion of light and summery, and solid and substantial fare. Bret Harte's new story, "An Episode of Fiddleton," is commenced, with his usual strength; there is a story about "Baum, the Cornet-player;" an illustrated "Cruise among the Azores:" a profusely pictured and very suggestive article on the New York "Central Park," a delightful illustrated paper on "The Birds of the Poets," by John Burrows; a curious "Study" of Japanese fans, by Noah Brooks; Whitelaw Reid's commencement address on "The Scholar in Politics;" the second of Blauvelt's important papers on "Modern Skeptiicism;" a reply to the recent article on "The Liberty of Protestantism;" a portait and biography of Edward Eggleston, author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster;" and the usual quantity of postry.

Dr. Holland, the editor, gives us another inetallment of "Arthur Bonnicastle," and the following "Topics of Time:" The Outlook, The New York Board of Education, Ownership in Women, and The Liberty of Protestantism. The Old Cabinet talks about the people who get under People's Umbrellas, etc. "Home and Society," "Culture and Progress," "Nature and Science," and the etchings are as usual diversified and interesting.

able, and is embellished with an exceptionally like-life and finely engraved porrait of the late Chief Justice Chase.

Chase, the contents are: "Lectures on Mr. Darwin's Philosophy of Language," by Prof. Max Muller; "Marriage in France"; "The Brontes"; "The Planet Mars." An Essay by a Whewellite; "Veni Sancte Spiritus." A Hymn by Dean Stanley; "Too soon." A Novel, by the author of "Patty"-concluded; "Daniel O'Connell"; "The Weather and the Sun "; by Richard A. and also gives a very fine display of the new fall fashions. Demorest seems to outbid all his cotemporaries in the value of premiums to his subscribers; he announces an astounding offer for 1874, of the large and celebrated chromo, "The Old Oaken Bucket," after Jerome Thompson, and several other equally large and valuable chromos, "The Captive Child," "Home Sweet Home," and "After the Storm," for the ensuing three years, worth $15 each. This is certainly unparalelled, and we wonder how it can be done. Send for circular. Address W. Jennings Demorest, 838 Broadway, New York.
